

She is your number one supporter.

She is standing in the crowd.

She will always be beside you and will never let you down.

She is the last to fix her dinner.

She is the first to dry your tears.

She will be there in a hurry to help you through your fears.

She has forgotten who she is.

She has put herself on hold.

She has let the years slip by; she has gotten worn and old.

She wouldn't have missed a second, minute or a day to hear you say I love you and wish you never stray.